The opening of a new distribution centre in Greater Victoria is scheduled for April 1, 2019. The expansion will provide Weber Supply with its second location in British Columbia. This location will serve the entire island and be supported by the re-distribution centre in Richmond. This new location will add a further diversification to its customer base and will better serve the commitment to their valued suppliers as they strengthen their market base in British Columbia.

The new location will be located at 2-6578 Bryn Road, Saanichton, B.C.

Victoria is the capital of British Columbia and is on the southern tip of Vancouver Island. The city's chief industries are technology, food products, marine related services, tourism, education, federal and provincial government administration. Outside of Victoria, Vancouver Island's economy is largely dominated by the forestry industry. Commercial fishing vessels operate out of the island's ports and harbours, and coastal fish farms produce many tons of Atlantic salmon yearly. Consumer food products includes dairies, food processing plants, breweries, and wineries.
